Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Sunday 31 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain crossing from southwest, with showers following to south, central.

Today:
North, east mainly dry, bright start. Area of occasionally heavy rain with strengthening winds in southwest initially, moving northwards, lying across far north from late afternoon, while showers follow to south, central parts, potentially heavy, thundery, slow moving in southwest.

Tonight:
Showers dying away for most during the evening. Band of occasionally heavy rain in far north, moving to the west overnight, where coastal gales, perhaps severe gales, develop.

Monday:
Strong to gale west to northwest flow, perhaps touching severe gale at first, bringing showers, these frequent and heavy in west, perhaps merging to longer periods rain at times.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mainly dry, bright in central, south as generally northerly winds hold bulk of showers across Highlands and Islands and Northeast, these frequent Tuesday, scattered Wednesday, isolated Thursday as pressure builds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.